New Lehigh Valley Child Care Location to Open in Palmer Township

Easton, PA – Lehigh Valley Child Care (LVCC) announces plans to open a new location at The Village at Stone’s Crossing in Palmer Township. The new location, just off of William Penn Highway, will open to the public on March 2, 2009.

LVCC at Stone’s Crossing, a newly renovated 11,000 square foot facility, can serve up to 120 children from six weeks of age through elementary school age. The school age program will provide transportation from most local elementary schools before- and after-school. Full-time and part-time care for all ages, including high-quality preschool, will be available Monday – Friday with extended hours from 6:00 AM to 7:00 PM. Because LVCC is dedicated to offering the highest quality early education for all ages, all classrooms are staffed by experienced and degreed teachers.

Lehigh Valley Child Care is the largest full-day, year-round, early care and education provider in the region with 22 early learning centers in Lehigh and Northampton Counties. According to LVCC's President / CEO Susan M. Williams, "Lehigh Valley Child Care was founded in Easton nearly 40 years ago, so we are very pleased to be expanding our services in Palmer Township. We've found that there are very few not-for-profit providers left in the area, and we see a need to offer safe, reliable, and especially, affordable early care and education to Easton families."

As a not-for-profit provider, LVCC accepts child care subsidies and offers scholarships to families in need of assistance. For more information, families should call Mike Hoffman at 610-820-5333 x207 or visit LVCC's website at www.lvchildcare.org.
